Overview

Model N Global Price Management is the only enterprise-grade SaaS solution focused on maximizing revenue by reducing the risk of price erosion. Built for international pricing and market access department leaders, the solution helps global pricing teams realize better prices throughout a drug's lifecycle, execute pricing strategy by more effectively surfacing insights, and drive better business governance with unified pricing and data processes.

Key Features

Global Pricing Database

Enable your entire pricing organization to have clear visibility and easy access to pricing and market access information in one single, consolidated global repository that is flexible and extensible to fit your unique business processes.

- Manage users and user access rights
- Trust your data by utilizing one single source of truth across all master data, prices, price rules, price event, currency fx rates, volume forecasts, and competitive data

Collaboration & Workflows

Collaborate more effectively by operationalizing pricing and market access data as well as governance and management processes — streamlining everything from alerts and notifications to price proposals, approval workflow, and regular data verification processes.

- Configure your workflows to align with governance processes
- Drive user adoption, ensure adherence to best practices, and facilitate greater collaboration through the intuitive interface
- Enable your users to access the solution anywhere, anytime through our desktop and mobile applications

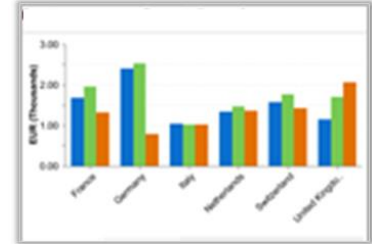

Reporting & Analytics

Support data-driven decision making through standard reports and an easy-to-use, self-service reporting platform. Users can report current data to their respective governments and perform and share historical data analyses to surface insights.

- Easily customize existing reports or create new reports using our drag-and-drop reporting platform
- Stay up-to-date with analyses and reports that are automatically updated in real time

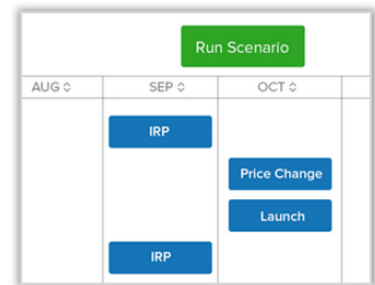

“Before, we changed prices without understanding how it might impact other markets strategically. Now, we can understand the risk in every decision.”
